Synopsis

ACT ONE

King Polixenes of Bohemia is visiting his childhood friend, King Leontes of Sicilia. After spending several months with Leontes, his pregnant wife Hermione, their son Mamillius (and all of the other Lords/Attendants) Polixenes is ready to head home.

Leontes begs him to stay, but he refuses. Then, when Hermione asks Polixenes to stay he agrees. Leontes becomes jealous and (wrongly) starts to suspect that Polixenes and Hermione are having an affair. Leontes asks his servant, Camillo, to poison Polixenes. However, Camillo warns Polixenes who escapes Sicilia along with Camillo and Archidamus.

ACT TWO

Leontes, still filled with jealousy, publicly accuses Hermione of an affair, and claims that she is pregnant with Polixenes' child. Despite Hermione's protests, and those of his advisors, Leontes has Hermione thrown in jail.

Hermione gives birth in prison, and Paulina takes the baby and brings it to Leontes, hoping seeing it will change his mind. Instead, he tells Antigonus to take the child and abandon it in the wilderness.

ACT THREE

Leontes puts Hermione on trial. He acts as the judge and jury and declares her guilty, despite a prophecy from the Oracle at Delphi declaring her innocent. True to the prophecy, Leontes & Hermione's older child, Mamillius, dies suddenly. Stricken with grief, Hermione also dies.

Meanwhile, Antigonus leaves Leontes & Hermione's infant (Perdita) in the wilderness of Bohemia, and then is attacked by a bear. The infant is found by an old Shepherd and his children.

ACT FOUR

16 Years pass. King Polixenes, Archidamus and Camillo have heard rumors that Prince Florizel (Polixenes' son) has been spending time at the home of a Shepherd.

The Shepherd's child is on her way to buy supplies for a party when she encounters a drifter/rogue named Autolycus who pretends to be injured and steals her purse.

At the Shepherd's party, Florizel confesses his love for Perdita (the baby adopted by the Shepherd). King Polixenes, Archidamus and Camillo also show up in disguise. Upon learning that Florizel plans to marry Perdita, a poor Shepherd's daughter, Polixenes disowns his son. Camillo and Archidamus convince Florizel to trade clothes with Autolycus (who showed up disguised as a merchant) so he and Perdita can sneak away to Sicilia to elope.

Now dressed in fancy clothes, Autolycus convinces the Shepherd's family that he will help their situation with the angry King Polixenes.

ACT FIVE

Florizel and Perdita arrive in Sicilia and meet Leontes. When Polixenes arrives with the Shepherd it is revealed that Perdita is Leontes' lost daughter. The kings reunite, and Paulina performs some magic on a statue of Hermione and Mamillius...
